December 20, 2023

Good Morning, everyone! It's Zia from 851, here for Words of Wisdom Wednesday on behalf of the S.E.A.L. team.

Today is International Human Solidarity Day. A day to celebrate unity, togetherness and action. A time to remember the importance of harmony and for governments to respect their commitments.

You might be wondering, "what is "human solidarity" and why is it important?" Well, human solidarity refers to the connections in society that bring people together as a whole. Individuals share common interests that build a psychological sense of togetherness. Human solidarity is important so we can build on our relationships in society. We can take in and respect one another's cultures and differences. Understanding each other's needs and distinctions help build a stronger community for all of us.

To embrace this day, help someone out or show them they don't have to do things alone, and that we're all in this together, as one.

Thanks for listening and have a We're All in This Together Wednesday☺
