Good morning, I.S. 201! My name is Venice from class 851, and I'm here on behalf of the SEAL team for this thoughtful Thursday.

Today is teach kids to save day, which means to be mindful of where you spend your money. For example, don't be too impulsive. You may see something cool online and think to buy it immediately, but later find it not living up to your expectations and not using it as often as expected. Instead, if you ever want to get something, wait a little. Read the reviews for the item, see if it trustworthy, and ask yourself "Do I really need this? Will I use it?" If after a while you still want it, then maybe it really is worth getting.

Remember, saving doesn't mean you can't buy fun things, it just means you're spending more wisely. Learning to manage money early makes you more independent and helps you avoid problems later. Even small habits now can help your future self a lot!

Thanks for listening and let's have a Think of Your Wallet

Thursday 😊
